Water constantly moves through the water cycle in nature. It begins with evaporation, where the sun heats up water in lakes, rivers, and oceans, turning it into vapor. The water vapor rises into the air and cools down, forming clouds through condensation. When the clouds become heavy enough, they release water in the form of precipitation, such as rain or snow. This water then collects in bodies of water or soaks into the ground, starting the cycle again. The water cycle helps keep water moving and supports life on Earth.
